

HRADEC KRÁLOVÉ REGION

ABOUT REGION

The Hradec Králové Region is located in Eastern Bohemia. It is neighboring Pardubice, Central Bohemia and the Liberec Region, and it shares a long part of its boundary with Poland. It is divided among five regions: Hradec Králové, Jičín, Náchod, Rychnov nad Kněžnou and Trutnov. The region's area is 4,758 km² (January 1, 2006) which is about 6 percent of national territory. Hradec Králové is the 9th largest region in the country. On December 31, 2006 the population of the Hradec Králové Region was 549,643, 5.3 % of the Czech Republic population, 10th place among regions. There are 448 communities in the Hradec Králové Region (7.2 % of all Czech Republic communities). Hradec Králové is the regional capital with a population of 94,255. The region has 22 towns with populations exceeding 5,000.

Krkonošský národní park (National Park Krkonoše) is the most important preserved territory in this region. Protected areas in Jizerské hory, Český ráj and Broumovsko are also rather popular among tourists. There is no landmark belonging to the list of UNESCO in the region, although Kuks castle grounds with adjacent Betlém are getting very near to being qualified. Urban sanctuaries are in the downtowns of Hradec Králové, Jičín, Nové Město nad Metují; other sanctuaries can be found in the fortress Josefov and in Kuks. Hrádek u Nechanic, Chlumeck nad Cidlinou, Ratibořice, Náchod, Opočno and Častolovice are the most frequented castles in the region. Another of its tourist highlights is the Safari Zoo in Dvůr Králové. The region occupies a prominent place in tourism statistics.

There are quite a number of universities and colleges in the region. Hradec Králové University (UHK) with two colleges (Pedagogical College and Informatics and Management College) is seated in the region. There are also two colleges of Charles University (UK) in Hradec Králové – Medicine and Pharmacy. There is also a military healthcare college of the University of Defense located in the city. In the region, Kč 2,151 per capita were spent on research and development in 2004 and in the same period 0.39 % of employees worked in R&D, which put the region on 5th, resp. 7th place in CR.

Region Hradec Králové is a rather important area in farming. The automotive and rubber industries are among the most important employers here. Many people work in the textile industry, as well. Nevertheless, some textile producers have serious problems now. Two industry clusters focused on packing technologies and stone working have been created in the region. CzechInvest agency is surveying possibilities of building new clusters in the pharmacy, medicine and ICT fields.

The potential of the region is in intensive farming along the Labe River and the fields of contemporary medicine and pharmacy are well developed. There is a sufficient quantity of persons with academic erudition suitable for key local lines of business. The motorway to Prague is being finished, there are many landmarks attractive for tourists, parts of the territory are suitable for winter sports and there is a great capacity for accommodation.
