

SOUTH MORAVIA REGION

ABOUT REGION

South Moravia Region is located on the boundaries with Austria and Slovakia. It borders with regions Highlands, Pardubice, Olomouc, Zlín and South Bohemia. The region is divided among seven districts: Blansko, Brno-město (City of Brno) Brno-venkov (Brno-countryside) Břeclav, Hodonín, Vyškov and Znojmo.

Its area is 7,196 km<sup>2</sup> (January 1, 2006), 9.1 % of the national territory, making it the 4th largest region in the country. On December 31, 2006 there were 1,132,563 inhabitants (11 % of the population of the Czech Republic, 4th most populated region in the country). The South Moravian capital, Brno (366,680 inhabitants), is the second largest city in the Czech Republic. There are 22 towns and cities in the region with populations exceeding 5,000.

South Moravia belongs to the most valuable areas of nature in the country. Protected landscape areas Pálava and Bílé Karpaty were given the status of UNESCO biosphere reserves; landscape protected area Moravský kras (Moravia karst) is one of most remarkable karst areas in Europe. Also we should not forget the National park Podyjí. Brno is a city of international fairs, and is well known throughout the continent. There are two UNESCO landmarks in the region: The complex of Lednice-Valtice belongs to largest artificially built-up and groomed landscapes in Europe. Villa Tugendhat in Brno is a magnificent piece of functional architecture from the period between the wars. An ancient Slavonic fort excavated by Mikulčice is also trying to find its place on the UNESCO list of World heritage. There are urban sanctuaries in Brno, Mikulov and Znojmo. Also the battlefield at Austerlitz is very popular among tourists.

Brno is the second largest center for universities in the Czech Republic. Masarykova univerzita (MU) with nine colleges offers studies in pedagogy, medicine, information, humanities and natural sciences. Vysoké učení technické, the Brno University of Technology (VUT) has eight colleges. Apart from technical disciplines, it offers studies in economy and fine arts. Janáčkova akademie múzických umění (Janáček Academy of Music and Performing Arts in Brno, JAMU) is another university focusing on artistic areas. Mendelova zemědělská a lesnická univerzita (Mendel University of farming and forestry, MZLU) offers studies in traditional South Moravian specializations including gardening and viticulture. There are also veterinary and pharmaceutical universities (VFU) and a Defense University in Brno, the latter of which has a branch in Vyškov as well. There are seven private universities in the region. Some institutes of the Academy of sciences (AV ČR) are also placed in Brno: the Institute of Biophysics, the Institute of Physics of Materials, and the Institute of Analytical chemistry. In 2004 of all employees in the region 0.91 % worked in research and development, which puts the region to the 2nd place in the Czech Republic.

Both industry and farming maintain their importance in South Moravia Region, and the service sector is growing stronger. Even lesser businesses are getting more successful in machinery. The most developed cluster initiatives are in furniture production, biotechnologies and bioinformatics. CzechInvest agency is surveying possibilities of typical clusters for development in viticulture, aircraft production and the garment industry.

Potential of the region lies in the large number of its universities; there is a high proportion of means being spent on research and development, and great focus on technical specializations. Two modern trans-European transportation corridors are crossing through the territory of South Moravia Region has motorway connections to other countries as well as to other Czech regions. Clean air, local landmarks and biosphere reserves of UNESCO are also of certain importance. There is a long tradition in viticulture, good conditions for biking tourism and the reputation of Brno as a city of international fairs.
